Garrett Winner in Commissioner Race.

Amid scenes of wildest excitement Hon. H. Green Garrett, of Winchester, received the Republican nomination for Railroad Commissioner of the Third District in the convention which came to a close yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The first ballot was taken at noon yesterday and after eleven had been voted the one having the least number of votes was dropped until the fight narrowed between Garrett, Littlejohn and Morris.

On the fifteenth ballot Garrett received 477 votes twenty more than was necessary to elect, while Littlejohn on the final ballot received 436.

It was evident that Littlejohn had the advantage and to turn the tide toward Garrett the delegations from Clay, Laurel and Leslie, changed their vote that had been cast for Morris, to the Garrett column.

After the eleventh ballot W. L. Brown, of London, was dropped from the race and Holmes and Silser were next to follow.

John Craig, of Covington, was eliminated from the race after the fourteenth ballot had been taken, and the Campbell and Kenton delegations cast their strength for Littlejohn on the final ballot.

WEDNESDAY.

With the seating capacity of the court house inadequate to accommodate the delegates assembled here to attend the Third District Railroad Convention and the large number of spectators, the body adjourned to the opera house where the convention was resumed.

District Chairman Robert H. Winn, of Mt. Sterling, called the convention to order Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and the announcement was made that owing to the limited seating capacity of the county court room the various candidates would hold a session and determine upon a place where the convention could be held with convenience to the delegates and spectators.

After a short session the candidates and local committee determined upon the opera house as the most suitable building in the city in which to continue the convention.

Caleb Powers, on entering the convention hall received quite an ovation. He addressed the audience briefly during the intermission in which another place for holding the convention was under consideration. Chairman Winn announced the change in place and the convention adjourned until 3:30 to meet in the opera house.

When the convention reassembled at 3:30 Rev. Dr. B. M. Shive invoked the divine blessing upon the assemblage, when Alvin S. Bennett, who was the choice by agreement of the candidates was made secretary.

Nominations for temporary chairmen were next in order and Rot. Buckler, of Boyd county, passed in nomination, Judge Howard McCartney, of Fleming county, which was seconded by Roy Wilhoit, of Boyd. A. C. Wallace, of Richmond, placed in nomination Judge L. W. Betherum, of Rockcastle county.

The roll call of the counties and the number of votes cast by each delegation gave McCartney a majority of seventy votes over his opponent. A. S. Bennett was placed in nomination for secretary of the temporary organization, but owing to the fact of his not being a resident of the district, could not accept the nomination.

James Wilson, of Cynthiana, R. C. McClure, of Lawrence county, and Denver B. Cornett, of Harlan county, were placed in nomination, but at the request of the former his name was withdrawn. The fight for the secretaryship having centered between McClure and Cornett, the vote was taken with McClure leading by a large vote. Before the count was made a motion was made to make the election of McClure unanimous while Cornett was named as assistant.

Following up the advantage gained over the Bradley men in securing the temporary organization, the anti-Bradley men through Wm. Cochran, of Mason county, offered a motion to reduce the number of committee members to seven each on the Committee on Credentials, Committees on Rules and Order, Resolutions and Permanent Organization.

In an instant Congressman Langley was on the door protesting vigorously against the controveting of the party rule. This was followed by the widest scene when Chairman McCartney set aside the rule, after the motion had been duly heard and seconded. A. H. Paton, of Jackson, surrounded by the Breathitt county delegation attempted to get the attention of the Chairman, but hisses and cut calls prevented him from being heard. The uproar continued for several minutes when quiet was restored, and Paton hurling defiance at those who so bitterly opposed him declared that such tactics would bring ruin and destruction to the Republican party.

To preserve harmony on the floor of the convention the motion offered by Cochran was withdrawn and the election of the committees proceeded and they were announced at 6 o'clock when the convention adjourned until 8:30.

When the convention assembled for the eight session the committees got down to work and the call for the report of the committee on Credentials not meeting with response, Secretary of State Ben L. Bruner, and Judge E. C. O'Rear spoke to the delegates and spectators. During the course of his speech Dr. Bruner, who has been mentioned as a probable candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor declared that he was not a candidate for any office.

A committee was appointed to wait on the Committee on Credentials to determine if any agreement had been reached, and a report to the negative

Addams! Addams! So Say We All, Gentlemen!

[From the Shelby Sentinel.]

Is there a Democrat but believes that if Senator McCreary gets the Gubernatorial nomination, the chances of his party's success will be in doubt? Is it not the part of wisdom, therefore, for him to turn to someone who can bring the people to victory? William Addams, of Harrison county, is such a candidate. Place your banner in his hands and he will give you the hope and enthusiasm that must land us all winners. A few weeks since we were left floundering, feeling that there were none to make an active fight to oppose Senator McCreary for the nomination, but since the manly stand and clean-cut statements of Mr. Addams, our doubts are at last thrown aside and hope has taken the place of our doubts in our party success.

There be times when our darkest periods are just before the dawn, and Democracy in Kentucky appears to have passed through them. From now on every man should feel, with such a man as Addams to lead, that success must surely come.

Mr. Addams has a number of relatives and friends in "Old Shelby," and, though this county is in Mr. McCreary's district yet it can be turned to the Harrison county man who can land the party triumphant in November.

Let us stop our party bickerings. Addams is a man we can unite upon, and let us all, therefore, get together and be for Addams.

Let the party slogan be "Party success," and Mr. Addams will be selected. He is the man of the hour, the man you want, the man you need, the man you must have.

Addams! Addams! So say we all! Addams! adv 1t

The Value of Ideals.

What we make of ourselves depends upon the ideals which we habitually hold. Our lives are shaped upon our mental models. If these be high, the life is lofty; if low it grovels. Man is no better than his ideals. The stream can not rise higher than its source. Our work can never overtop our ideal, our ambition. It is a great thing to keep the constant suggestion of high ideals, of things that are grand and noble in human achievement, in the mind. It tends to make us love the right and hate the wrong. There is one thing we ought to hold in such sacredness that no consideration could induce us to dilute it, and that is the quality of the life, the quality of our ideals. Whatever else we are careless about, we cannot afford to carry through life low ideals, second class personalities or demoralized mentalities. However humble our own homes or ordinary our environment, we should keep the quality of the life, the personality, at the highest possible standard. We should allow nothing to deteriorate it.

Yet most people are careless and indifferent regarding the quality of their lives. There is a slipshodness in their living, a slovenliness in their mentality, which tend to deteriorate the quality of the life and make it cheap and commonplace.

Whatever your career, guard your ideal as the apple of your eye, the pearl of great price; for everything depends upon the direction in which that points. If it points downward, no amount of money or influence can redeem you from a degraded life. Man is so made that he must follow his ideal. He cannot go up if his ideal points down.—Orison Swett Marden in "Success Magazine."

STOMACH LIVER LUNGS

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.

GIVEN AWAY.—Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, new revised Edition, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Poetic Apprentice.

A grocer's apprentice addicted to poetry has summoned his employer, a rich merchant of Ougitsa, Servia, for unlawful dismissal. The merchant explained that his customers left because the boy answered all questions in rhyme and detained people while he fixed meter and verse. Moreover, he greeted his employer with a new couplet every day. The court found the merchant justified and advised the apprentice to mend his ways.—Belgrave Cor. Pall Mall Gazette.

Woman and the Farm.

In defining woman's relation to the life of the farm, one needs but little reflection to become aware of the all-pervading quality of that relationship. Just as the monarch of France, when asked to define the state, exclaimed, "The state; I am the state." So might the farmer's wife, when questioned as to the life of the farm, respond, "I am the life of the farm."

A Box That Moved of Itself

By GROVER J. GRIFFIN

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

There's no telling what young people between childhood and man or woman hood will do. There is a case on record of a girl of thirteen shopping with her mother who disappeared in a throng. The police hunted for her for a long while without getting any trace of her. The case was given up as one of those mysterious disappearances that are never solved. But the girl turned up finally, and what do you suppose was the cause of her disappearance? She had gone off voluntarily through a whim, or, rather, a romantic desire to try the world on her own account.

But a stranger case than this came under my observation. I am a freight agent on a railroad, and it happened in the freight house in which I am employed. One afternoon I received a box about six feet long by two feet broad and deep. It weighed, I should think, about a hundred pounds. It was marked: "Glass. Handle With Care. This Side Up." Near one end was also written, "If Stood on End This End Up."

I received the box on the platform, and, since I didn't care to be saddled with broken property, I laid it carefully on truck, wheeled it into the freight house and, being crowded for room, stood it on end, being particular to put the end up as directed. I noticed that the top was neither nailed nor screwed on, and I wondered how it had been fixed as firmly as it was. But this was merely a passing thought, for I didn't take the interest and had not the time to investigate the way lids were fastened, provided they were secure.

I received the box about 6 in the evening and after disposing of it and other freight locked up and went home to supper. Having some statements to make up in the evening, I returned to the freight house, lighted up and went to work in the little space fenced off for an office. I was figuring when I heard a cough outside.

The idea occurred to me that some one was in the freight house. The door being right beside my office, no one could have entered without my knowing it; consequently some one had come in surreptitiously. No one would be likely to do that except for the purpose of robbery. All this passed through my brain in one-tenth the time it has taken to tell it. The first thing I did was to open a drawer in my desk and take out a revolver.

Thus armed, I went out in among the freight and looked about. I admit I dreaded being shot from a dark corner, but for that matter I could have been shot while sitting at my desk. I saw nothing, heard nothing, and after walking about for awhile I made up my mind I had been mistaken. I started to go back to the office and had reached the door when I heard a giggle.

All idea of fear left me at once. Tossing my revolver on to my desk, I turned and went back for another hunt. Passing the box that had been marked to be carefully handled I noticed that instead of the top one of the sides faced me. I knew very well that the box could not have moved itself and suspected that here was the solution of the matter. Going up to it, I began to pull it about, when the top came off and out stepped a girl about fifteen years old. The most astonishing thing about her was that her face was on a broad grin.

"Well, I'll be hanged!" I exclaimed. Her response was a giggle the same as I had heard shortly before.

"Who are you?" I asked.

"A runaway."

"From where?"

"What did you run away for?"

"Oh, it's an elopement."

"Rats! You're nothing but a child. Where's the young fellow in the case?"

"Hiding behind the boxes. I let him in at the window while you were gone."

I hastily examined the lid of the box and found it had been held in place by clamps on the inside that could be easily turned. Then I called to the young fellow to come out of hiding. I heard him climbing over the boxes from the back part of the house and presently he came down into the dim light. He wasn't much older than I.

"Now, you children tell me all about this escapade at once," I said.

The girl made the explanation. She told me that she loved "Willie," as she called him, and that she knew her parents would not consent to a marriage since they were so young, so they thought that they would elope. Willie had proposed the plan they had adopted. He had made the box, put her in it and shipped her as freight to my station, where he proposed to join her.

"And now," she added, "won't you just go like a dear, good man for a clergyman? We love each other and would like to be married at once. Consider my reputation."

"You little chit!" I replied, astounded at her impudence. "Do you suppose I'm going to aid in the marriage of two children just out of the nursery. You come into my office and stay there till I telegraph your parents."

The girl, who had taken the lead from the first, begged hard to induce me to let them go their way, but I was obdurate.

I locked them in the office and went out to send a telegram. When I returned they had got out, but how I don't know. I never heard of them afterward.

A Joke on the Artists.

Some years ago there was a colony of artists painting in a Maine village some twenty miles from Prout's Neck. All were enthusiastic admirers of Winslow Homer, and all, having had a go at the painting of rocks and sea and realizing how difficult was the task, betook themselves to Homer, only twenty miles away. How refreshing it would be to have a glimpse of the man's work in his studio! Fully aware that it was not his custom to admit strangers, they ventured upon the pilgrimage to that shrine. They counted on his waiving the rule when it concerned a group that contained at least one full fledged national academician and several associates of that august body. They all went to Scarborough (Prout's Neck), put up at the hotel and sent him a joint note, signing their names and begging that he would receive them. When the messenger returned they read with dismay that Winslow Homer presented his compliments and begged to be excused from receiving "art students." The joke was so good that the story was given out in artistic circles.—Arthur Hoeber in World's Work.

Mock Suns.

Mock suns are similar in point of origin to the mirages of the desert, only they occur in the arctic circle. As the long winter night of the polar region wanes over every twenty-four hours a slight glow is seen at some point on the horizon. Often accompanying this glow is seen the phenomenon of the mock suns. Several degrees up in the heavens as many as five of these spectral orbs have been seen at one time. Invariably they are all connected in a geometric figure. The suns seemingly bound together with circles and arcs of light. Often when only one appears it is mistaken for the real sun of day, and natives rejoice at the early end of the long winter night only to be disappointed as the image disappears. The explanation of the phenomenon is given by physicists as refraction and reflection of light from the real sun below the horizon on the mists in the upper atmosphere.—St. Louis Republic.

Crossing the Bar.

Tennyson's famous poem "Crossing the Bar" was written, said his son, in the poet's eighty-first year, "on a day in October when we came from Aldworth to Farringford. Before reaching Farringford he had had the 'moanings of the bar' in his mind, and after dinner he showed me the poem written out. 'That is the crown of your life's work,' said his son, who was the first man after the poet to read "Crossing the Bar" and who passed the first criticism upon it in such fitting and generous language. 'It came in a moment,' said the poet, and he explained the pilot as the Divine and Unseen, who is always guiding us. A day or two before he died the poet, calling his son to his bedside, said, 'Mind you put 'Crossing the Bar' at the end of all editions of my poems.'

Old Time Taxation.

During the eleven years from 1695 to 1706 the Englishman over twenty-five who shirked matrimony was called on to pay 1 shilling annually, with a further sum, according to rank, of 5 shillings for a gentleman and £12 10s. for a duke, a tax which yielded to the revenue about £1,000 a week. In these "good old times" the Briton had to pay a tax when he took a wife and another tax every time he qualified as a father. Thus a duke's nuptials cost him £50 4s., his heir £30 2s., and for each later male addition to his family his joy was discounted by a payment of £25 2s. The benedict whose income was less than £50 a year had to pay 2s. 6d. on his marriage and 2 shillings every time he became a father.—London Standard.

Wagner a Living Paradox.

As an artist Wagner had unequalled genius. As a man, though generous, temperate and virtuous to an unusual degree, he also had extraordinary faults. He was egotistical and proud, prone to fierce enmities; he went to extremes in everything. A living paradox; impatient, irritable and nervous; noble and petty; never made a man more friends and more enemies. He was worshipped and hated. Taken all in all, musically he stands as the most notable figure of this age. —Dole's "Famous Composers."

With a "G."

"Gentlemen," said the lawyer for the defense in closing his eloquent and impassioned speech, "all I demand for my client at your hands is justice—justice with a large G!"

The principal of the district school was on the jury, and the verdict was guilty—with a large G.—Chicago Tribune.

Many Sided Question.

Miss Lonely—You ought to be careful, Kitty. Marriage is a serious matter.

The Maid (who has a proposal)—Yes, ma'am; but staying single is a serious matter too.—Columbus Ledger.

Fatal Anyhow.

"Won't you try a piece of my wife's angel cake?"

"Will it make an angel of me?"

"That will depend on the kind of a life you have led."—Houston Post.

DEATHS.

—Wm Yarnell, aged 21 years, died at a Covington hospital last week of appendicitis and other complications. Yarnell was a fireman on the L. & N. railroad and in a wreck near Falmouth several weeks ago was thrown from the engine. He was picked up unconscious and taken to Covington. For a time he seemed to improve, but for over a week had been in a dangerous condition. Before leaving Paris on his last trip he complained of a pain in his side, and did not want to make his run, but was persuaded to go. Several cars in the rear of the engine were derailed. The car in which Yarnell was at work was wrenches violently, though it did not leave the track. The young man was thrown out, and this accident no doubt hastened his death.

He was a son of David Yarnell who lives in Cincinnati and a nephew of Jeff Yarnell, who resides near this city.

WINCHESTER VOTES TO REMAIN WET.

The local option election in Winchester precinct was won by the drys Tuesday. They cast 267 ballots, to 166 for the wets, giving the anti-saloon people a majority of 101.

Both sides were active during the day and at 9 o'clock more than 225 votes had been cast. The registration showed more than five hundred entitled to vote. Ninety-seven of these had been added at the special registration of April 25. There are practically no floaters in Winchester precinct so that the vote was an honest one. BLACK HAWK CORN PLANTER No. 15 VARIABLE DROP!

Light Draft, Simple Construction.

Wur special new feature in this planter is that we not only get an accurate number of kernels in each hill, but we get the number of kernels in each hill which the fertility of the soil is able to bring to perfect maturity.

No field was ever known to contain exact uniformity in strength of soil. It is just as unreasonable to expect the same results from thin, weak soil, in comparison with deep, rich soil, as it is to expect a child to do a man's work. This is a reasonable proposition, particularly to the scientific corn grower.

More money is being spent and greater efforts along educational lines are being made to-day than ever before in the world's history to increase the yield of corn per acre. We contributed a very large effort to accomplish these results with our Black Hawk single kernel edge drop, and we now add to our combination the No. 15 Variable Drop, with which the drop can be changed to 2, 3 or 4 kernels in a hill without stopping the team; or can drill 7 1/2, 10 or 15 inches, 9, 12 or 17 1/2 inches, or 11, 14 or 22 inches apart; without stopping the team.

Hand Drop Attachment with each Planter, has Foot Drop also. Will plant last two rows and wind wire at same time. Come and let us show you the best planter made.

CHICAGO NEWS LETTER.

Chicago, May 4.—Counterfeiting nickels at a cost of 25 cents each is an industry in Chicago which the government secret service has kindly stopped, for which Andrew Barto, the accused man, may well be glad. According to the testimony of Capt. T. L. Porter, head of the secret service, it required an hour and a half of time to make three lead nickels. At this rate each nickel would have cost a quarter, yet he either had rosy dreams of fortune by disposing of them at two cents each in bulk or he was a man so determined on being crooked that he would rather lose money at it than be honest. The counterfeiting outfit consisted of a heavy stamping machine, bellows, forge, stamping press and a number of devices for polishing and trimming the coins, all very workman-like and successful, but expensive in the matter of time. "To make the coin," Capt. Porter testified, "Barto first had to cut the nickels from a sheet of lead and then polish the edges for fully fifteen minutes by hand. Then he put the unfinished piece on the mold and set it under heavy weight which he lifted to the ceiling of his den with a hand windlass until he released a catch and dropped the weight on the steel die. If the weight hit accurately the bogus coin was stamped, but he spoiled three out of five."

A chance for girls to learn cooking, needle work and practical trades, including typesetting, millinery and others will be given by the Chicago schools in a new school of mechanical arts which will be opened June 1 for an experimental run of a month or two. At present only $16,000 is provided for the purpose. For several years boys have had some manual and vocational training but the poor girls have had to wait. "And then need it most," declared Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent. "I can get any number of women to make me a new dress, but there is a great deal of trouble in getting one who is willing to mend an old one." It is believed the school will become self-supporting so far as materials are concerned. One trade to be developed is that of skillful repair work on table linen. Cooking courses will carry training for family cooking and catering, and include buying provisions. As a rule it is harder in the big cities for girls to support themselves than for men. President McFatriach of the Chicago School Board for years has been an ardent advocate of vocational training and it is likely that many courses will be added to the public schools to fit boys to be something beside president of the United States, and to fit girls to be self-supporting and independent of the marriage proposal.

The horse again has superseded the motor for the pleasure of Chicago's four hundred, society women particularly have taken up horseback riding this spring with old time enthusiasm. The motor has been relegated to a place of usefulness, but morning pleasure rides through the parks are taken in the saddle. For years the city has been an equestrian center, some of the best riding horses in the country being owned there, horses of pedigree which have taken blue ribbons in horse shows east and west. Possibly the new zest in riding is a cure for obesity. One who should be an authority recently said: "Riding exercises every muscle in the body, especially those of the waist and stomach, and hence reduces the waist line. At the same time it has the advantage of home calisthenics, work in a gymnasium and outdoor athletics." There are many delightful rides for horsemen and horsewomen in and around Chicago. Along the lake shore, through the parks and into the country. The horseback contingent does not go at mad gallop—not by any means—it is a very dignified and conventional proceeding, this riding of society folk. Among the women very few nowadays wear the old side-saddle habits; they have taken to the bifurcated skirt, a skirt that resembles the harem skirt after a long coat. The men present no appearance of the western rider, but use the English seat and wear the short coat, tight trousers and jockey boots of England. When the sun is rising and Lincoln Park is deserted except for the matin chorus of robins and bluebirds, the outriders of this fashionable cavalcade appear, men and women laughing with the spontaneous gaiety not to be seen or heard at balls or dinners.

Sir John Murray, famous oceanographer, while in Chicago expressed amazement at the fact "that the great lakes never yet have been subjected to bathymetrical, physical and biological survey," and he at least never will be happy until that is done. "There are important economic as well as physiological reasons why such a survey should be made," he said. "You have a valuable asset in the white fish of the lakes, but you do not know whether they are being overfished, what years are the best for breeding, the food, or anything of the other details relating to their existence."

FREE SAMPLE CURED OLD PERSON'S BOWEL TROUBLE

One of the most remarkable proofs of the unusual laxative merit contained in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin is that it is effective not only in people in the prime of life, but at the extremes of ages. As many letters are received from mothers regarding the cures of children, as from men and women of sixty, seventy, eighty and even 90 years of age. It must be truly a wonderful laxative.

In the cure of constipation and bowel trouble in old people it has no equal. It corrects the constipation, dispels the headache, biliousness, gas, drowsiness after eating, etc. People advancing in years should see to it that their bowels move freely, and if they do not to take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin. You can prolong your life by healthy bowel action. Clogged bowels invite disease. Women about to pass the menstrual period cannot do better than use Syrup Pepin several times a week until the system has settled to its future condition.

Among the strongest supporters of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin are Mr. W. G. Zorn of New Decatur, Ala., and Mr. George S. Spaulding of the National Soldiers' Home, Kansas, both elderly men. The regular size bottles can be bought of any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar, but a free sample bottle can be had by sending your address to the doctor.

Address him Dr. W. A. Caldwell, 402 Caldwell building, Louisville, Ky.

$15 to Insure

BURLEY—is a splendid specimen of the draft horse, and his get have proven to be of the very best. There is a steadily growing demand for the class of horses produced by Burley, both up on the farm and in the cities. They can stand more work than the general of horses. Burley is 7 years old, a beautiful black. He is well-formed and of the class that catches the eye. In selecting a horse to breed to, select one whose produce commands best price.

The above horses will make the season of 1911 at Woodlawn Stock Farm being received the convention took an adjournment until 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

The convention reassembled at the opera house yesterday morning at ten o'clock and Chairman McCartney called for the report of the committees that had been passed from Wednesday night.

The Committee on Credentials of which Congressman John W. Langley was Chairman, reported that the contests from Bourbon and Bracken counties had been decided, the Bourbon delegation being decided in favor of the Garrett delegation while that of Bracken went to Craig. The credentials of the delegations upon which the committee decided to hold the seat in the convention each presented their credentials signed by their county chairmen.

Following the report of the Committee on Credentials E. S. Halburn, of Middlesboro, Chairman of the Committee on Rules offered resolutions which were unanimously adopted and the Committee on Permanent Organization reported that by a unanimous vote it had been decided to make the temporary organization permanent. This motion was passed by the unanimous vote of the convention.

It was announced by Chairman McCartney the nomination speeches would be limited to five minutes while the seconds were limited to three minutes. The secretary proceeded with the call of the counties. O. P. Byron, of Boyd, placed in nomination John Littlejohn; John W. Langley, of Pike, presented the name of Hon. H. G. Garrett; D. C. Edwards nominated Judge W. L. Brown, of London; Wm. Cochran, of Mason, presented the name of Judge Samuel Holmes, of Nicholas, while Chas Finley nominated A. T. Siler, of Whitley county, and Caleb Powers, Jackson Morris.

The first ballot was taken at 12 o'clock and resulted as follows: Garrett, 300; Craig, 191; Siler, 121; Littlejohn, 124; Holmes, 87; Morris, 61; Brown, 29.

ROYAL Baking Powder Economy

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have always declined to produce a cheap baking powder at the sacrifice of quality.

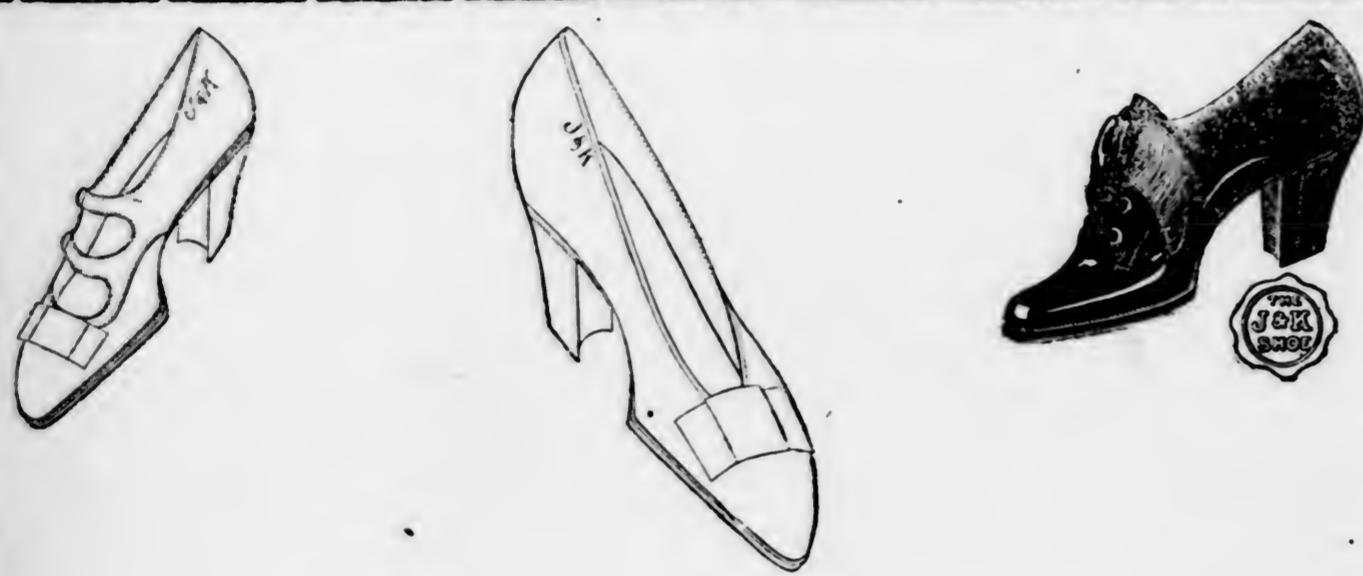

Royal Baking Powder is made from pure grape cream of tartar, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price, and is more economical at its price than any other leavening agent, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.

Mixtures made in imitation of baking powders, but containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or given away in grocery stores. Such mixtures are dangerous to use in food. In England, France, Germany and some sections of the United States their sale is prohibited by law. Alum is a dangerous mineral acid, and all physicians condemn baking powders containing it.

The label of alum baking powders must show the ingredients.
